

Supporting the Complexity of Alternate Sites of Care

Evolution in Healthcare

At CuraScript SD we recognize that healthcare is changing, the way patients receive care is evolving and so are we. We stay focused on trends and industry changes so we may better shift resources to meet the needs of those changes. With the immense growth of alternate sites of care (ASC) we have taken a strategic and proactive approach to bringing the best options to those facilities.

We have partnered with vendors and organizations to amplify trade reach and product diversity to optimize our capabilities within the ASC space.

Outlook

CuraScript SD is excited about the future of healthcare and is dedicated to supporting initiatives that progress care forward. We recognize the alternate sites of care have the potential to not only expand across an even broader range of specialties but also can cause an exponential shift on how medications are managed on a daily basis. It is critical that we adapt to these changes and work closely with our current and future partners to identify all aspects of the business we can support.

We not only want to be a resource in distribution but a true partner providing services that focus on practice efficiency.
